Arval Ignition

The benefits of a new car for non company car drivers

It can be difficult to find new benefits that really motivate your valued employees – but Arval has created an attractive solution.

Arval Ignition allows you to offer new cars to your staff with no contribution needed from your company.

A single monthly payment covers the finance and insurance of the vehicle, service and maintenance, tyres, Vehicle Excise Duty (VED), breakdown recovery and more – almost everything except fuel. The amount is deducted as part of each individual's salary.

Your employees can choose from thousands of models to suit all kinds of tastes and needs, leased over a three-year period, with a mileage limit covering the term of the lease that is calculated to include both business and private motoring.

Because the vehicle will be treated as a company car for taxation purposes, the biggest financial gains are made when opting for low CO₂ models. We can help drivers to make the best choice for them, delivering the best balance between cost and the type of car desired by each individual.

It all adds up to a powerful employee engagement and retention tool that can be offered with little impact or cost burden to the employer.
